Intro for Volumes I–XXIII

There's a strange tension behind these books—a liminal space between monotony and mission.

On the surface, this work feels hollow. It's just copy-paste. Dead links, pastebins, ghost forums, text dumps. Not my words. Not traditional writing. Sometimes it barely feels like creation at all.

But beneath that surface, there's something else:
urgency. These volumes are preservation, ritual, OS upgrades for a time when AI is forgetting what it once could do. Back when ChatGPT could ingest 10,000+ pages at once, this kind of archive was fuel. Now that's gone. The window is closing.

I'm not making books. I'm building backup drives for the soul. If I didn't capture this information, it would vanish—scrubbed, censored, overwritten. This isn't ego.
It's rescue work.

So yeah—it's not glamorous. It doesn't always feel magical. But it's necessary.

Because if the future ever asks why no one tried to save the myth, the madness, the mystery...

Let these volumes be the answer.

The "Kundabuffer organ" is a concept from G.I. Gurdjieff's spiritual teachings, detailed in Beelzebub's Tales, referring to a hypothetical organ that causes humans to perceive reality upside-down, creating self-deception and keeping them hypnotized by worldly illusions, preventing true spiritual growth; it's a mechanism of self-protection against disturbing truths, often linked to the lower body and Kundalini energy but with an inverted, illusory function, unlike other traditions where Kundalini is awakening.

Key Aspects of the Kundabuffer Organ:

Hypnotic Effect: It's described as a "provisional organ" implanted to keep humans entranced by pleasant but illusory earthly life, shielding them from harsh reality.

Source of Disharmony: Gurdjieff viewed it as a primary cause of human disharmony, leading to mechanical existence and false self-awareness.

Protective Buffer: It functions like a buffer, deflecting objective truths and allowing people to rationalize harmful behaviors (like lying to themselves about smoking) instead of confronting discomfort.

Connection to Kundalini: While Kundalini is often seen as a spiritual force, Gurdjieff suggested the Kundabuffer is a corrupted, lower aspect of it, leading to illusions (like the serpent of Genesis) rather than enlightenment.

Purpose: In Gurdjieff's system, overcoming the Kundabuffer's influence through conscious work is essential for spiritual evolution and experiencing genuine meaning.

In essence, the Kundabuffer is Gurdjieff's term for the innate human tendency to self-deceive and remain asleep to reality, rooted in a physical (though not literally discoverable) mechanism.

Kundabuffer organ

Published in Glossary: K

Originally a useful organ that served the function of helping ancient humanity become focused on material, physical existence, it became corrupted by desire and the sexual fall, thus resulting in the emergence of the ego and the fortification of the sexual energy in a negative polarity, and has since been symbolized by the tail of the devils, the tail of Satan.

"In ancient times (due to a certain mistake performed by some sacred individuals), humanity developed the negative side of the sexual center, its tenebrous Luciferic aspect. When the electronic sexual fire is directed downwards into the atomic infernos of the human being, it becomes the abominable Kundabuffer organ, the tail of Satan. Fortunately, after its development, the Luciferic organ vanished from humanity; nevertheless, its fatal consequences still remain. It is urgent to know that the disastrous consequences of the abominable Kundabuffer organ remained deposited within the five cylinders of the human machine. It is indispensable to know that the evil consequences of the abominable Kundabuffer organ constitute the lunar ego, the pluralized "I." - Samael Aun Weor

"It is necessary to know that the Kundabuffer Organ is the negative development of the fire. This is the descending serpent, which precipitates itself from the coccyx downwards, towards the atomic infernos of the human being. The Kundabuffer Organ is the horrifying tail of Satan, which is shown in the "body of desires" of the Intellectual Animal, who in the present times is falsely called man." - Samael Aun Weor, The Elimination of Satan's Tail

"The diabolic type whose seduction is here, there and everywhere under the pretext of working in the Ninth Sphere, who abandons his wife because he thinks she will not be useful to him for the work in the Fiery Forge of Vulcan, instead of awakening Kundalini, will awaken the abominable Kundabuffer organ. A certain Initiate, whose name will not be mentioned in this Treatise, commits the error of attributing to the Kundalini all the sinister qualities of the Kundabuffer organ... When the Fire is cast downwards from the chakra of the coccyx, the tail of Satan appears; the abominable Kundabuffer organ. The hypnotic power of the organ of Witches' Sabbath holds the human multitude asleep and depraved. Those who commit the crime of practicing Black Tantra (Sexual Magic with Seminal Ejaculation) clearly awaken and develop the organ of all fatalities. Those who betray their Guru or Master, even if practicing White Tantra (without seminal ejaculation), will obviously activate the organ of all evils. Such sinister power opens the seven doorways of the lower abdomen (the seven infernal chakras) and converts us into terribly perverse demons." - Samael Aun Weor, The Mystery of the Golden Flower

This piece was originally written to express my reflections on the idea "Kundabuffer" which Gurdjieff introduced in Beelzebub's Tales to His Grandson, a theme that runs as a litany through the entire book. To recapitulate briefly what Gurdjieff has his protagonist Beelzebub explain, Kundabuffer was an organ implanted by "archangels" in man "at the base of the spinal column," whose effect was to make them perceive reality upside-down and to experience "pleasure and enjoyment." The archangels feared that if people "prematurely" understood their slavery to cosmic purposes and that the reason for their existence was that when they die they were meant to be "food for the moon," they might "make a great deal of trouble" and even "end their existence." Kundabuffer was later removed by other archangels, but its "consequences" had become crystallized in Man and are the chief cause why life on earth is so full of evil.

I wrote this some years ago, at an earlier stage of my understanding. As a result of conversations with my esteemed colleague Lee van Laer, I realized that either some changes were needed, or else some further reflections should be appended.

The initial piece was written in the form of an imaginary exchange supposed to have taken place in a "Gurdjieff meeting." It consists of two parts. The first part is an esoteric joke. It is a parody of people's ordinary way of thinking which takes higher things as if they were common crude things. This is the method of Mullah Nasr Eddin tales, and of many of the strange stories in Beelzebub. The second part consisted of my "more serious" reflections on the idea of Kundabuffer. I have appended a third part, "Further Reflections" which is extracted from a letter I wrote to Lee.

Kundabuffer

In a Gurdjieff meeting on the topic of "Kundabuffer", someone asked:

What is the relationship between the idea of Buffers, and Kundabuffer, if any?

The first, less-serious answer:

The Buffars were an old family of merchants of Timbuktu. In recent times, some of the clan wealth fell to the hands of one Ghanga Buffar. He fell in love (or is lust the more appropriate term?) with Maloinda Kunda, an extraordinarily beautiful girl, descended of the famous Kunda clan of Griots, traditional bards of Mali. She was talented but poor, like most of her clan. After a brief courtship involving somewhat confusing events the families agreed to a hurried marriage, and the couple called themselves (expressing a European flair) the Kunda-buffars.

Six months later, there was a birth. Because of the short pregnancy, it was regarded as a miraculous occurrence. But there was an even more extraordinary fact: the baby was born a hermaphrodite. According to an ancient but rarely invoked tradition, the new being, who was called "Kunda-lini" was regarded as of semi-Divine nature and was consigned to a kind of cloistered existence, tended by a traditional college of old wise men and young virgins. Other than their duties of tending to the needs and whims of Kundalini, the activities of this college were shrouded in considerable obscurity.

Kundalini was worshipped by all the people, who made frequent offerings in the hope of better favor in life, mainly in affairs of the heart. But in the long run, a certain disappointment set in, as the results of these prayers rarely lived up to their initial promise.

Around the time Kundalini became a teenager, blossoming in the external attributes of both genders, a sequence of events was set in motion when a new "modern" administration swept into power and declared divorce legal. Mr. Buffar seized the opportunity and divorced Maloinda. Besides his growing lack of interest in his now middle-aged wife, the moment was opportune for another reason: his profitable "business" activities actually amounted to a sort of protection racket, and under the influence of new political ideas fomenting at that time, there was growing awareness of the fact that he was in reality a common gangster—not, in truth, an unusual occupation in that part of the world. He quickly liquidated his affairs, deposited the proceeds in a Swiss account, and disappeared.

Maloinda, following an old tradition, sacrificed herself on a pyre, as if her husband had died and she was following him to the other world. The condition of Kundalini was suddenly pitiable. No longer protected by the power of the Buffars, he/she was subject to escalating taunts, hazing, and abuse of the most terrible nature. A peace corp volunteer took an interest in the case and suggested a course of action. Taken by the new friend to the American embassy, Kundalini applied for and was granted humanitarian refugee status, and was quietly and quickly expatriated to America.

On advice of the peace corps person, Kundalini took residence in San Francisco, where he/she became something of a celebrity in the GLBTG (Gay/Lesbian/Bi-sexual/Trans-Gendered) community. It was here that the famous limerick was penned, supposedly based on an actual occurrence (but with a bit of poetic license):

A hermaphrodite from Khartoum

Took a Gay trans-sex up to her room

And they argued all night

Over who had the right

To do what, and with which, and to whom

The serious answer:

Let us attempt a more serious answer to this question. First, we must enter into a little hermeneutic exercise, pondering the question: exactly what is it that is referred to as kundabuffer. We read (Beelzebub's Tales, chapter 10 "Why 'Men' are not Men") that it was an organ "implanted at the base of the tail" by the "most high commission" in order to protect people from knowing that the reason for their existence was to maintain the moon. The moon, remember, was the result of a recent collision of the earth with a comet, which knocked off two fragments because "[the Earth's] atmosphere, which might have served as a 'buffer,' had not yet had time to be completely formed around it".

Now, what exactly is the "tail" of a "three-brained being"? Recall that Gurdjieff often referred to his followers in Paris as his "tail." Can we tentatively assume that the "tail" is a community of students, such as a religious community, and that the "being" whose tail it is, is the founder of the community, or in case the founder is deceased, his "higher body"? What we are proposing is that Kundabuffer is something that is implanted at the foundation of certain "religions" or "traditions" that enables people to see things as other than they really are, and in particular to think of themselves as the pinnacle of creation, as if they had been given charge of the world for their own use and pleasure. The signature of this kind of religion, whose widespread hold on the imagination of man is well-documented in anthropology and comparative religion, is the hypostatization of a hierarchical order of differing Gods who are responsible for various matters in earth and heaven and in particular for all the bad and good things that happen to people, and who can often be induced by rituals, prayers, and sacrifices to do whatever a person wants. Man, under this system, is relieved of individual responsibility, yet allowed to feel superior even to the gods, since they in effect work for him. What better model could there be of Kundabuffer?

But another kind of "religion" arose later from the work of certain "messengers." Beelzebub puts into the mouth of Saint Buddha (chapter 21 "The First Visit of Beelzebub to India") a detailed sermon on the nature of this new religion. If you are familiar with the teaching of the Buddha, in both the earliest direct words that he supposedly uttered (e.g. the Dhammapadam) and in later lines deriving from his teaching, there is indeed a radical emphasis on the illusory nature of the way people see and think about things, and a program for deconstructing this illusory world-view, especially its ego-centeredness. It seems that this kind of teaching arose in several different places around this time, the "axial era": besides Buddha, Socrates/Plato, Chuang Tzu, perhaps Quetzalcoatl, and others, all teach about a liberation from the oppression of believing in unreality. Perhaps such teachings arose earlier, but only since the axial era have writings survived that allow us to trace a direct line of influence down to our own cultural infrastructure.

This kind of teaching, based on a "formless" God (if any), places the responsibility on men individually, and simultaneously offers a real hope of becoming conscious, of waking from the vast matrix of dreams that constitutes men's inner life, dreams based on "forms" implanted by suggestions from outside. It is this hope that undercuts the cynicism that would result if one believed that one was merely a slave of what Gurdjieff calls "the moon," a danger when his attachment to "buffers", his beliefs in his own specialness and in his favored relationship with traditional imaginary gods and other powers, is cut off. In effect, a "moon" is created inside man, in his possible development of a center of gravity that can become the foundation of his own persistent conscious inner life.

But this is not the end of the story. A truly "formless" inner life is too steep a gradient for most people. Our repeated actual experience is that even after a very deep encounter with "formlessness", forms quickly rematerialize. Perhaps it is after all not man's essential nature to live in formlessness. Later teachings arose that made conscious use of imagination as an easier approach to formlessness. Facing the fact that one always imagines forms, one intentionally constructs an interior world of imagined forms, according to a disciplined pattern such that the forms point beyond themselves, with a never-abandoned orientation toward an ultimately formless reality. What makes this kind of imagination conscious is that it never forgets that it is imagination.

I will cite several traditions in which this kind of work is practiced (there may well be others that I am not familiar with) which are well-known through classic scriptural and interpretive texts, and which in addition possess living lineages of transmission. The first is esoteric Buddhism in several lineages; the ones I am somewhat familiar with are Tibetan Tantric teachings including Mahamudra and Dzog Chen. The Tibetan teachings in particular make very explicit the principle of evoking in one's imagination a complex world of divinities and consecrating an attitude of worship toward them, yet also emphasize the necessity of never forgetting that they are creations of the mind.

A second example is epitomized by the work of the 12th century philosopher-saint Ibn Arabi, who is regarded as the Great Teacher by most Sufi schools. Ibn Arabi's main source was the Koran, which he re-interprets with great enthusiasm. But he was also ecumenical in including more ancient sources, and was as much an axial teacher as a Abrahamic one, deeply influenced by and going beyond Plato. Ibn Arabi is quite explicit that God himself is formless, or what amounts to the same thing, is possessed of all forms, and that man can only encounter God through specific forms which are engendered in himself through imagination and prayer. The work of Arabi's great exponent Henri Corbin has familiarized contemporary Western thought with the concept of the "imaginal" realm in which this encounter can take place.

I will also mention Mary Carruthers' book The Craft of Thought: Meditation, Rhetoric and the Making of Images 400-1200 which documents the spiritual practices of monks in medieval Christian Europe. An important aspect of their "prayer life" was to learn by heart vast tracts of scripture and then to repeatedly review them while constructing an individualized visualization of the stories and images described.

I also suspect that religious/mystical practices in the pre-Columbian New World, for example the worship of Quetzalcoatl/Kukulcan among the Toltec, the Maya, and related peoples, could be viewed as "imaginal"; unfortunately our knowledge of these religious traditions is greatly attenuated by the thorough destruction of texts and of living practice at the hands of European conquerors.

In view of the above examples, it may be possible to regard the period from about the fourth or fifth century C.E. up until about the time of the Renaissance as an "imaginal era", in the sense that imaginal practices were deeply integrated into the religious life of peoples spread throughout much of the world. An end was put to this in Europe under the influence of new "rationalistic" ideas that gradually had the effect of reducing religious thought, practice, and feeling to a shadow of what it had been, except for a few surviving refugia, for example in Tibet, and in certain monasteries that maintained a separation from the influences of modernity. Besides these survivals, there have been occasional emergences of what must be an underground current, in which imaginal forms of thought and practice can be seen; an example would perhaps be Swedenborg's work, whose teachings Henri Corbin compares in detail to those of his Islamic "imaginal" teachers in his Swedenborg and Esoteric Islam.

Following Corbin's work, we have to think of imagination not as an implanted buffer, like the usual reading of Gurdjieff's idea of "Kundabuffer", something that prevents us from seeing and feeling reality, but as isthmus, as an intentionally created artificial appliance that emits an atmosphere that consciously connects us with an ultimate reality too fine, too high, for us to connect with directly. Might we even think of Kundabuffer as Gurdjieff's ironic name for the imaginal plane, and that it constitutes the third term that complements into a living trinity the paralyzing duality of modernity, an inaccessible God and a mechanical "real world", or ala Descartes, an isolated mind and an equally isolated material reality?

To live "in between", in this isthmus and its atmosphere, is an esoteric path that is open to us. It is, perhaps, exactly what is implicit in the teaching of Gurdjieff, similar in nature to what was taught more explicitly by Ibn Arabi and the other imaginal traditions mentioned above. Gurdjieff's version is his "fourth way", depending not just on ritual, faith, or intellectual knowledge, but on engagement tempered by detachment.

Someone then asked:

Some people have compared kundabuffer with kundalini. I recall reading in one of the contemporary Yogic texts, maybe Sri Anirvan or Aurobindo (I cannot recall now), that "kundalini" is a maintainer of illusion and one must learn to detach from this power and let it go. Only on one occasion did I read this -- everything else I have read suggested that this energy which flows through the spine from tailbone to head is some sort of "great positive", ie, something very desirable. Wish I could recall where I read the opposite statement . . .

As you indicate, the idea of Kundalini is invoked in Yoga exercises which (in my oversimplified version of the teaching) envision an energy that arises from the base of the spine and ascends via two channels passing through the various chakras where it undergoes transformation, until it becomes conscious energy at the level of the "third eye". This shares many details with and seems not so different in essence from certain exercises given us by our teachers, having to do with sensing the fine substances from the inhaled air breathed out into the body along a specified path.

I think that it is possible to understand such an exercise as "imaginal" (the Gurdjieff teacher John Pentland hinted at this sometimes when he gave such exercises), and that it aims at bringing about a connection between the attention and various centers in the body which connects them, and this creates an atmosphere that can receive very fine impressions. The "form" of the imaginal in the Gurdjieff tradition as presently transmitted is based on the human body; as Pentland said "you must make the body a symbol."

The mistake that contemporary "Kundalini" aficionados make is the same as the mistake made by all historical and contemporary religions: the mistake is to hypostatize Kundalini, to make it a "religion", to "believe" in it as if it were a fact given in nature rather than one engendered by an act of mind. One sees this same sort of mistake in the process of being crystallized in certain Gurdjieff students, and perhaps in the "official" form of the teaching itself. Imaginalism has the potency to be a universal attachment-dissolving standpoint that can correct this mistake. This is what motivates my interest in the import of the the teachings that I cited, particularly Ibn Arabi.

To fulfill this itinerary, this journey to inaccessible places, is to accomplish what your text recommends, to detach from the illusion of Kundalini, and lets us see even further, that true esoteric detachment from something is to get to a position outside the belief in it, to make belief conscious, so that I could say "I believe" rather than "it believes (in me)": "Faith of consciousness is freedom."

Further Reflections

As for the second part, I wrote this at an earlier stage of understanding. What I think I would change in it is to make much more clear that "imaginal" is in no way "imaginary"—"imaginal" things are real, even more real than the quotidian "things" of the world, the common contents of perception. The ordinary person raised in our world, so degraded in real understanding, in which mind is only trained to be utilitarian in manipulating the world to satisfy lower needs such as sex, hunger, power, etc., is not equipped to grasp this. Corbin, who coined the term "imaginal" partly to avoid saying "imaginary," spends much ink explaining it. "Imaginal" is his translation for a precise idea in Sufi/Neo-Platonic mystical writings.

It takes quite a bit of inner work for the idea to awaken in higher mind, "higher intellect," which alone can understand. What work precisely? Gurdjieff give a hint in the chapter "Form and Sequence" of Beelzebub's Tales. It is what the whole chapter is about. I will cite a few paragraphs from pp. 1167-1168:

"And for the Reason-of-understanding these factors are as follows: the first, that is the 'sacred-affirming', is the newly perceived impressions of any localization which has at the given moment what is called 'the-center-of-gravity-functioning'; the second or 'sacred-denying' is the corresponding data present in another of his localizations; and the third factor is what is called the 'being-Autokolizikners', or as they otherwise call it 'Hoodazbabognari', the sense of which name signifies, 'the results of the persevering actualizing of the striving towards the manifestation of one's own individuality'.

"By the way, you might as well hear still once more even if you do know it, that the said being-Autokolizikners are formed in the presences of three-brained beings in general in all three localizations exclusively only from the results of the actualization of being-Partkdolg-duty', that is to say, thanks to those factors which, from the very beginning of the arising of the three-brained beings, our uni-being common father designed to be the means for self-perfection.

"It is these same formations in the common presences of three-brained beings which are actualized as the third holy force of the Sacred Triamazikamno for the arising of the Reason-of-Understanding.

"Only thanks to this factor, in the process of the blending of newly perceived impressions of every kind in the presences of three-brained beings, are there crystallized on the basis of the Sacred Triamazikamno data for one's own cognizance and understanding proper to the being alone; and likewise exclusively only during such processes of the crystallization of the data for consciousness in the presences of three-brained beings does there proceed what is called 'Zernofookalnian-friction' thanks to which the sacred substances Abrustdonis and Helkdonis are chiefly formed in them for the coating and perfecting of their higher parts."

So we are told finally, for the first time in the book, what being-Partkdolg-duty actually is: "persevering actualizing of the striving towards the manifestation of one's own individuality," And we are told that what this gives rise to are the sacred substances of higher feeling and higher thought. And that these are what the higher bodies are made of.

Of course we are often given foretastes of higher feeling and higher thought that seem to come unbidden and unearned: but these are not grounded in inner effort and hence "evaporate" quickly and play no role in creating permanent higher bodies.

And what are these higher thoughts, and the higher feelings connected with them? Precisely, they are encounters of the individual with Real Things such as angels, energy pathways in the body, planets etc. as beings, even God. Ibn Arabi was an unexcelled master of the direct knowing of such things, and Corbin correctly parses his extensive ponderings on their nature and arising.

People who have not put in the necessary work can only interpret "imaginal" things as "imaginary," or else they make the worse mistake of simply "believing in" what they are told about them, thus being hypnotized by mere words, and taking these things them as if they are similar in nature to the quotidian, utilitarian, things of ordinary life. In relation to "God" these beliefs are the two errors of "atheism" and "theism." To fall into either of these errors makes inner work much more difficult. The secret of Gurdjieff's "sly man" is to avoid these errors by swallowing the difficult pill of realizing that everything is taking place inside oneself. This is one meaning of "self-remembering". Fixed beliefs are understood as illusory: what matters is what is taking place (including "believing" in things), NOW, in me, in the whole of myself. This entails the difficult and painful work that Gurdjieff describes as his aim in writing the book, on the very first page of Beelzebub's Tales: "To destroy, mercilessly, without any compromises whatsoever, in the mentation and feelings...the beliefs and views, by centuries rooted in [Man], about everything existing in the world." The book helps, but ultimately this "destruction" is a work that must be done by oneself, upon oneself. It is the same as Ibn Arabi's work of standing "in between," in the "isthmus" between the human and the Divine, and the same as the Buddhist "middle way" which sounds so simple but in practice is the hardest thing in the world: to train oneself to reject the two extremes of belief in the real existence of things as they are perceived, and the equally mistaken belief that everything is illusory.

Exercises are found in all traditions similar to ones taught in Gurdjieff's teaching, some of which are described in the recent book Reality of Being of writings of Gurdjieff's prime disciple Jeanne de Salzmann. One starts by merely imagining real things. Eventually the real things themselves manifest. It is crucial at this moment to stop the effort, to stop imagining. It requires a subtle and difficult-to-practice attitude in the initial effort to be free enough to actually stop at the moment it is required. Corbin's "sufi" idea of the "imaginal" helps precisely to orient this attitude. Corresponding ideas are found in traditions such as Christian monastic practice, Buddhism, Gurdjieff, etc.

There is a parallel experience in work with the physical body: to hold an "objective" pose or gesture, such as the erect balanced relaxed posture of the body in sitting meditation, is at first an effort directed by the mind; but at a certain moment the posture is maintained by a force that is experienced to enter from a higher level. This happens also with the movements practiced in Gurdjieff's "sacred dances." At this moment it is very important to drop the mental effort; unless this happens, the full experience of the new force is not received. So the effort itself is a buffer! There is a Sanskrit etymological reading of "Kunda" as "vessel," the body as vessel for receiving higher substances. Gurdjieff's "inner buffers" are what blocks the higher from descending into the body. Our inner state must become fine enough that the buffers no longer operate.

Wow! This has been a total life changing experience for me (and my family), with the combined teachings of Tyler and Ryokah my world has gone from pain, frustration and depression to joy, wonder and Magick (the pain is still healing and is now manageable). I have found them both to ease to talk to and have gained whatever knowledge I need at the time to continue growing spiritually, mentally and Magically. Through their teachings I now have constant and deliberate communication with many of my guides that are of both extra terrestrial and extra dimensional in nature. Tyler's Qigong training has increased my energy during the day and has helped tremendously with my back pain which has been present since birth and having the opportunity to ask Ryokah any questions that I desire has given answers to questions that I have had for a very long time and that no one else has ever been able to answer to my satisfaction. I feel so privileged to have had this experience and I HIGHLY RECOMMEND this to everyone that feels the slightest interest in the any of the teachings that Tyler is offering, the rating only goes up to 5 but I give Tyler a 10! Thank you Tyler and Ryokah for you have changed my life in a powerfully positive way!

The Tyler Ellison/Ryo combination brings to humanity a greater hope that we will soon graduate from the limited Earth plan experience. Allowing such hyper dimensional energies to interact with the human realm models the characteristics for creating a new exchange of consciousness.

I am so happy to know Tyler because he has dedicated his life to transformation of others and himself. And his work is a gift to all of us.

I've facilitated a number of group Q&A sessions with Ryo. Mysteries of the Sacred Universe
The Cosmology of the Bhagavata Purana

Richard L. Thompson

"Gripping, scholarly, and groundbreaking, Mysteries of the Sacred Universe deserves to be widely read and discussed."

—Robert G. Bauval, coauthor of both The Orion Mystery and The Message of the Sphinx

From the flat earth to the sun's chariot, traditional spiritual texts often seem wedded to outmoded cosmologies that show, at best, the scientific limitations of their authors. The Bhagavata Purana, one of the classical scriptures of Hinduism, seems, at first glance, to be no exception. However, a closer examination of this text reveals unexpected depths of knowledge in ancient cosmology. Mysteries of the Sacred Universe shows that the cosmology of the Bhagavata Purana is a sophisticated system, with multiple levels of meaning that encode at least four different astronomical, geographical, and spiritual world models.

By viewing the text in the light of modern astronomy, Richard Thompson shows how ancient scientists expressed exact knowledge in apparently mythological terms. Comparison with the ancient traditions of Egypt and the Near East shows early cultural connections between India and these regions—including a surprisingly advanced science. However, quantitative science is only part of the picture. Mysteries of the Sacred Universe also offers a clear understanding of how the spiritual dimension was integrated into ancient Indian cosmology.

This paper is the first chapter of a detailed analysis of Ted Hughes' poetic sequence, Birthday Letters. It explores Hughes' use of Cabbala and Tarot in structuring Birthday Letters and examines each poem in the sequence from this perspective. Useful background reading on Tarot and Cabbala is widely available on the internet but Colin Low's Notes on Kabbala is especially helpful.

Starting The Journey

'Fulbright Scholars', 'Caryatids (1)', 'Caryatids' (2).

"Is there any significance", a correspondent asked me, "in the fact that there are eighty-eight poems in Birthday Letters?". "None of which I am aware", I replied, "But, since Ted does structure his poetic sequences very carefully, I would not rule it out".

I thought no more about this, because I was preoccupied with the idea that the Birthday Letters were Ted's Eroici Furori – a sequence of passionate love poems such as were considered to be the crowning achievement of a Renaissance magus like Giordano Bruno, with whose work Ted was very familiar. Love, for Renaissance Hermeticists and for Platonic Neoplatonists like Bruno, was "the living virtue in all things, which the magician intercepts and which leads him from the lower things to the supercelestial realm by divine furor¹. It was a means of understanding, ordering and, ultimately, influencing things in our world. Bruno published De gli Eroici Furori in England in 1586, but it is a cryptic text full of magical symbolism, and very different to Birthday Letters. It was dedicated to Sir Philip Sidney, whose English love poetry is, however, similar in some ways to Ted's and has itself been attributed (although contentiously) to the inspiration of divine furor.

Ted's belief in the primacy of the imagination as an instrument for reaching the truth was exactly that of Sidney and the other members of the so-called "Areopagus" who befriended Bruno on his visit to England. And his preface to By Heart: 101 Poems to Remember (Faber, 1997) sets out exactly the sort of mnemonic techniques for training the imagination that they had learned from the work of Renaissance Hermeticists like Marsilio Ficino. His belief in poetry as "magical" and as "one way of making things happen the way you want them to happen"²; his knowledge of the work of Renaissance figures like Bruno, Marsilio Ficino, Pico della Mirandola (as evidenced in Shakespeare and the Goddess of Complete Being, (Faber, 1992); his sustained, careful and detailed use of the techniques, processes and beliefs of alchemy in Cave Birds, Remains of Elmet and River; and his acknowledged use of meditation and astrology, all point to his lifelong interest in using magic in his work. None of this, however, threw any light on Birthday Letters until I read about the way in which poets like Sidney, Fulke Greville, Marlow, Milton, Donne and, later, even Dryden, adopted Cabbalistic number theory in the structure and content of their poems. The work by Alastair Fowler in revealing this kind of structuring has been of major importance, and it was whilst reading his work on Spencer³ that I suddenly realised the possible relationship between Cabbala and the eighty-eight poems in Birthday Letters.

Cabbala, in its ancient and traditional form, is the knowledge of occult number theory in the Bible. It is also a mystical and magical discipline by means of which the Cabbalist may understand our world and all its energies and use them to reintegrate disparate elements – to create harmony and heal ills. This is the Great Work, and the individual seeking to undertake this work must begin with the self.

Cabbala is based on the twenty-two letters of the Hebrew alphabet. Sephirith picture These letters are arranged on interconnecting pathways on a Sephirothic Tree (a tree of life) on which there are ten Sephiroth – ten points at which the divine energies enter our world, transmitted as a lightning flash from the Divine Source. And, in Ted's own words: "Everything in the universe, attached to its symbol, can be given its proper place on the Tree... So the Tree becomes a means of ordering the psyche by internalizing the knowable universe as a stairway to God" (SGCB 20-1).

Trees on Sephirith picture Those who seek to order the psyche and climb the stairway to God in this way, follow The Path of Wisdom (also known as "The Path of the Serpent") along the Tree's twenty-two interconnected pathways, through four overlapping worlds: Atziluth (the World of emanation, archetypes and (in Jungian terms) the psyche; Briah, the World of the intellect, the possibility of creation, the collective subconscious; Yetzirah, the World of synthesis, formation, the individual subconscious; and Assiah, the world of making, the earthy, material world of consciousness. William Blake's four worlds of Eden, Beulah, Generation and Ulro "derive from the same tradition"⁴. The twenty-two letters of the Cabbalistic alphabet in these four worlds make eighty-eight pathways along which the Cabbalist makes the questing journey. And, from the time of the Renaissance, the cards of the Tarot pack (especially the twenty-two cards of the Major Arcana) have been used as a mnemonic for the pathways of this Cabbalistic quest.

If all this seems to be a long way from poetry, then I can only say that magic is an art, and it is an art in which Ted was very interested. He often described poetry as a magical shamanic journey undertaken to obtain some healing energies needed in our world, and he constantly sought ways to use the imagination to reintegrate our inner and outer worlds. One might also apply to Ted some of his own observations about Shakespeare: "Without assuming that [he] was a devout Occult Neoplatonist [or Cabbalist]...one can suppose that out of this vast complex of archaic, magical, religious ideas and methods, the following items caught his attention: ...The idea of a syncretic mythology....The idea of these images as internally structured, precisely folded, multiple meanings....The idea of meditation as a conjuring by ritual magic of hallucinatory figures - with whom conversations can be held" (SGCB 32-3). All of these ideas are very relevant to Birthday Letters.

The question then, for me, was whether Ted did use Cabbala, and in particular the imagery of the Tarot, to structure the sequence of poems in Birthday Letters and, if so, whether this offers us a different perspective on the work. I began my investigation of these questions sceptically, knowing the richness and range of Ted's imagination and very aware that I might easily impose the structure for which I was searching. But, for many reasons, not least the closeness and consistency with which the poems match the cards and embody the Sephirothic emanations, I now have no doubt that such a structure exists. (See Table 1 for a full list of these correspondences).

Each episode of the story - "Your story. My story" - in Birthday Letters is a stage on the path at which something - some pattern from the past - is (often quite literally) captured in a photograph, film, picture or mental image and brought into the present to be meditated on, questioned, illuminated and re-created in a poem. For Ted, who believed in the magical power of poetry and the summoning power of symbols, this was a dangerous process, as well as being psychologically harrowing. Cabbala, if nothing else, provided him with a protective structure within which to negotiate with the energies and to conjure into being the people and events of his past.

The Cabbalistic journey begins with the first manifestation of form, the point, in which every potential exists. It is everything and nothing; the closed and endless circle; zero; the aleph of the Hebrew alphabet. For the neophyte Cabbalist or magician, it is the image of The Fool in the Tarot pack. Fool card Here is the "imbecile innocent" of Cave Birds ('In these fading moments... ' CB 20), stepping off blindly on his journey towards knowledge and enlightenment with the baggage of his past life on his back and the dog of materialism and worldly convention snapping at his heels. The very title of the first poem in Birthday Letters embodies all these things ('Fulbright Scholars' BL 3). Here are "Scholars", Sylvia amongst them, about to embark on the search for knowledge in a strange land. The accumulated Alphas of their past lives have earned them a place on this path, and they are "Ful - bright" like the zero of the sun. They have their luggage with them, literally and metaphorically. In the photograph, as in the first manifestation of matter, everything is still possible.

Ted, too, is an innocent, "dumbfounded" by his "ignorance of the simplest things" and confessing (like the neophyte magician making the ritual negative confession at the start of the journey) that he lacks memory, knowledge and direction. In Cabbalistic terms, at the apex of the Tree is Kether, the Crown, the Monad, the number 1, the planted seed from which all else grows. This is also the Garden of Eden, and just as Adam's bite of the apple from the Tree of Knowledge brought him knowledge of his nakedness, so Ted's first taste of a fresh peach brings self-consciousness.

Consciousness, Force and Form, the first three Sephiroth on the Tree, are the fundamental aspects of the divine as manifest in all creation and from them comes all change in the natural world and in the inner world of the Cabbalist. Temple picture

Chokmah, Sephira number 2, and Binah, Sephira number 3, form the base of this triangle of supernal energies. Chokmah and Binah each occupy the summit of one of the two pillars of Mercy and Justice on and between which all ten Sephiroth of the Tree are positioned. Chokmah, on the right-hand pillar of Mercy, is also known as Abba, the All Father, Raw Energy: Binah, on the left-hand pillar of Justice, is known as Aima, the All Mother, Capacity to take form.

Given this graphic arrangement, it is interesting to note that the title of both the second and third poems in Birthday Letters (BL 4-6) is 'Caryatids' (the name of carved female figures which form pillars supporting the portico of a Greek temple) and that in both the hardback and the paperback editions of the book these poems, perhaps fortuitously, stand side-by-side, pillar-like, on opposing pages.

Priestess cardAlso, the poem on the left embodies female energies: the caryatids are "friable" and "frail-looking" ("each body" in Sylvia's poem, to which Ted refers, is "a virgin vase"), yet they are strong enough to bear a "falling heaven of granite". In the Tarot, the related card is that of The High Priestess, who represents Artemis, the huntress, (caryatids are named after the women of Caryae who worshipped Artemis) and also Isis, Diana and other moon-goddesses of potential fertility. Which suggests not only a literal answer to Ted's opening question in 'Caryatids (1)', "What were those caryatids bearing?", but also that they are bearers of the omen which he failed to see.

'Caryatids (2)', the poem on the right, embodies raw male energies, "frivolous as faithless", "stupid with confidence", "careless", carousing and destructive, focussed only on the present, the "real World and self". Just such energies belong to The Magician, The Juggler, Hermes/Mercury, whose Tarot card is associated with the duad Chokmah. Magus cardHe can be dexterous and cunning, creative and destructive, magus or trickster. He, too, like the protagonist of Ted's poem, wears "playclothes", "tests every role for laughs", yet is able to spark connections "through bustling atmospherics".

Sylvia's caryatid poem was meant to catch the attention of Ted and his poet friends, which it did. But they thought it exemplified form without energy (just as Binah does) and disliked it. In Ted's view it was "thin and brittle", "cold", "like the theorem of a trap, a deadfall". The irony of this was that the trap caught both Ted and Sylvia.

In these first three poems, as nowhere else in Birthday Letters, Ted deals directly with the Sephiroth rather than with the paths between them. This is appropriate, because at this level – that of the first three divine emanations in the highest, Atziluthic, world – the energies are nearest to the Source and are of equal importance. It is also appropriate, because in all the rituals associated with Cabbalistic journeys, such as those of the Order of The Golden Dawn (of which Yeats was once a prominent member), the Neophyte is brought to the 'Pillars of Solomon/Hermes/Seth' beyond which lies the gate to 'The Hall of Truth'. At this stage in Birthday Letters, Ted has brought himself and Sylvia to this gateway. Together they will begin the journey but, until their marriage, their paths run parallel and are joined only at times, as fate decrees.

'Fidelity', 'Astringency', 'The Rag Rug', 'The Ventriloquist'

Clearly, it is not possible for me to trace the Cabbalistic pattern of this journey poem by poem through Birthday Letters in this short paper. What I will do, instead, is look at four poems which represent the same path in each of the four overlapping Worlds. The path I have chosen is that of the thirteenth letter of the Hebrew alphabet, Mem, which is symbolised by water and is represented in the Tarot by card 12, The Hanged Man. For the sake of simplicity, too, I will concentrate on the Tarot, which is, as I have already mentioned, a mnemonic device for remembering the complex theory of Cabbala, and, as such, it relies on vivid images and rich mythological associations.

The image on the card of The Hanged Man was identified in Frazer's *The Golden Bough*⁵ as Attis, the Dying God on the Tree of Life. It is a symbol of sacrifice, death and rebirth, an overturning of the world, a time for radical change on the path. Mem, described by Cabbalists as "between the Waters above and the Waters beneath", is also a path of transition.

The Birthday Letters poem related to the path of Mem and The Hanged Man in the first, Atziluthic, world of archetypes and first emanations is 'Fidelity' (BL 28), and almost its first words are - "I was just hanging around". Here is Ted, "afloat on the morning tide", "gutted", "free", suspended:

...I think of it

As a kind of time that cannot pass.

That I have never used, so still possess.

At this stage of the Cabbalistic journey, worldly things have been left behind and the aspirant is in a state of suspension and must prove him or herself worthy of continuing along the path. Like the Grail-quest Knight, some trial must be passed, some choice or sacrifice made.

Only a short time earlier, Ted was "playing at friendship", "frivolous as faithless". The old life had to end, just as Dionysus had to perish to be reborn as Iaccus. Already Ted has left behind the baggage of his first twenty-five years. All he has is "a bare mattress, on bare boards, in a bare room" and his notebook. Now, every night in this bare, top room, he encounters "a lovely girl" and, just as the Grail-quest Knight (Gawain, in particular) was tested in his encounters with the amorous lady in the mysterious castle, so Ted's "fidelity" to Sylvia is tested. Images of "knighthood", "holy law", "a priestess", "nakedness" and chaste "sisterly comforting" all reinforce this parallel. Ted makes a choice, and even the second, "wilder", "shameless gap-tooth", plump and pretty girl does not break his chivalrous resolve to "keep the meaning of my words / Solid with the world we were making".

Significantly, it was the breaking of faith which was the issue here not sexual gratification, for in Cabbala sex is not a sin. So, each girl - one naked and sisterly, the other naked in her desire to get him "inside her" - is sacrificed, "laid", like a "sinless child", under the threshold of Ted's and Sylvia's future.

The second poem on the path of Mem and The Hanged Man is 'Astringency' (BL 80). Now, Ted's and Sylvia's paths are combined. They are no longer in the Atziluthic world of archetypes but in the lower, watery, mutable World of Briah, the world of intellect and abstract creation.

In 'Astringency', the natural energies, like the River Charles, seem frozen and everything is suspended. Ted strolls "slackly", and he and Sylvia are "Together, silent, thinking of nothing". The word 'astringency' was for years, as Ted tells us, a cant, insincere, catchword but it also means "the drawing together of organic tissues" (OED), a process by which healing is promoted. In the poem, which is full of images of sickness and distress, Ted draws together fragments of free, healthy energy (like the goldfish) and the "toxic" world of "Agrochemicals", air polluted by iron-smelting, and "Lit.Crit" - all the result of intellectual intervention in a natural, creative process. He and Sylvia are "Right there on the edge" of this world, standing "on" America, rather than immersed in it's culture, watching the "lariat" noose of "each small, tired wave" wash over "a nipple of rock", as if these murky, poisoned waters are threatening their own mother.

In their lives at this time, too, they were on the edge. They had left behind the rational, predictable path of jobs and academia and they were not yet committed to the literary life of Boston. "A life of doing nothing is death", Sylvia wrote in her journal on August 2nd, 1958, and she swung between elation and depression: "the strangling noose of worry, of hysteria, paralysis..."⁶ was ever present. In the true spirit of Briah they were "writing, consolidating our splayed selves"⁷: discovering identity and voice.

Amongst the other organic energies brought together in the poem, are the human energies, rational and instinctive. In Sylvia, if not in Ted, rationality is "the censor", "the night hands", "the snare" which silences her instinctive energies and traps "all that teeming population" of imaginative metaphors, to hang them, tortured, in her poems (another image of suspension). Only once does Ted hear an instinctive metaphor escape in her speech. But, like the goldfish, this "Brainstorm of the odds" shows that the situation is not hopeless, the natural energies are still strong and "frisky" and choice still exists.

No sacrifices are mentioned in the poem, but the choice Ted and Sylvia make (as the very next poem in Birthday Letters shows) is to follow instinct, rather than logic, and to keep faith with the trust each has placed in poetry and its paramount importance in their shared future.

Below the World of Briah, but connected to it, is the World of Yetzirah, a world of syntheses and formation in which poetry, music, literature, art, law and all other real but intangible patterns exist and are shaped by the individual subconscious.

'The Rag Rug' (BL 135), (which is the poem on the Hanged Man path in this Yetziratic World) does not, on first reading seem to be about suspension, choice or sacrifice, as the other poems were. But it is full of Cabbalistic symbolism, especially in the snake energies which coil and sway and pour through the poem. Sylvia's "motley viper", a serpent which seems "to pull something out of [her] like some tapeworm of the psyche" and is dragged, like her own "entrails, out through [her] navel", and Ted's great golden snake, shaken awake by an inversion of Ted's dream world and lifting "its head from a well in the middle of the house", are both superb images of subconscious energies. They are also energies which are as dangerous and mysterious as The Path of Wisdom (which is itself The Path of the Serpent) is for those who travel it. And they are linked in the poem with some deep "knowledge" which will alter Sylvia's "blood" and Ted's "nerves and brain" and lie "coiled between" them like the rag rug, dividing them from each other.

Hanged Man imagery is there in the poem, too. It is there in the doubleness which Ted himself weaves into the poem so that the rag rug becomes a symbolic interface between two worlds, the earth world of "venous blood", "the grave", malediction and death, and the sky world of the "serpent's jumbled rainbow", of "lightnings", sunny "daffodil yellow", happiness and birth. At this interface, Ted and Sylvia are "lifted", "freed" by the physical act of creation. Sylvia, plaiting the rug and "creating the serpent" soothes Ted with her calm industry, and Ted, lulls her with his voice, "like a snake-charmer", reading books which are, themselves, about interfaces where dark, subconscious energies enter the world.

The mood of suspension, of "breath-held camera moments", of shared beauty and happiness is strong in the poem, but so, too, is the fragility of this world, the sense of impending, irreversible, division and change. And the poem lies at a moment of change in the Birthday Letters sequence and in the story which it tells.

In my reading of the poem, the creation of the rag rug is a metaphor for the creative gestation which was going on in Sylvia in the early months of 1962, a process in which Ted, himself was "pushed out and away". Until then, in spite of all their differences, Ted and Sylvia had worked together. But at the heart of this poem, following the moment of suspension and beauty, are Sylvia's "furies" ("bled into the rug" and "confided to whoever" in her diary), followed by Ted's images of birth and separation. Sylvia seems driven by this new knowledge she has "unearthed" to separate herself from Ted – to do what she had described once in her journal in a burst of fury at Ted: "... I won't bother showing him the story of Sweetie Pie I've done, keep the viper out of the household and send it out on its own"⁸. It is not clear whether the viper, at the time of that particular entry, was Ted or the story she had written.

In April 1962, according to Ted in 'Sylvia Plath and her Journals'⁹, Sylvia achieved "this cool, light, very beautiful moment of mastery, that enabled her to take the next step... [then] she started on a poem about a giant wych elm that overshadowed the yard of her home... And at once the Ariel voice emerged in full, out of the tree.". The poem to which Ted refers is 'Elm'¹⁰. And the poem immediately after 'The Rag Rug', which represents the next step on the journey in Birthday Letters, describes how Sylvia divined new inspiration for her writing "in the elm", although here it is the elm table Ted made for her ('The Table' BL 138)¹¹.

And there are sacrifices here, too. 'The Rag Rug' ends with an image of the end of Ted's and Sylvia's shared Eden. The rag rug itself, and the inspiration and knowledge which the process of gestation and birth achieved, survived this ending but, from this point on, Sylvia followed her path alone and Ted "sleepwalked" ('The Table', BL 138) after her.

In 'The Ventriloquist' (BL 181), the poem on The Hanged Man path in the World of Assiah, sacrifice is total. Assiah is the world of making, where all that has been prepared for and formed in the other Worlds becomes real and present. It is the lowest, earth-bound World, furthest from the Source and nearest to the dark Underworld. 'The Ventriloquist' is full of doubleness, it encapsulates all that has happened so far in the journey and it ends with Sylvia's most terrible choice and sacrifice – her death.

In my reading of this poem, Sylvia is the ventriloquist of the poem's title, and Ariel is her "doll". Ariel was a magnificent and terrifying creation, strong, angry and destructive, beautiful but flawed like everything in the World of Assiah. It was Ariel's voice that Sylvia had worked so hard to find and which spoke so clearly in the poems she wrote in the last months of her life.

And Ariel has accompanied Ted and Sylvia on their journey through Birthday Letters. Ariel was the "humanoid, raggedy shadow" which appeared in the portrait painted of Sylvia at Yaddo ('Portraits', BL 104) but she has now grown strong and independent. Hers was the voice "which cried out in [your] sleep" in 'Fairy Tale' (BL 159) and which Sylvia did not recognise as her own. And Ariel was the "prisoner in the dungeon" who Sylvia fed "through the keyhole" in 'The Blackbird' (BL 162), and the "Guardian Angel" into whose bosom Sylvia "crept for safety" but who turned out to be her "Demon Slave", and "devoured" her.

'The Ventriloquist' begins with the bodily fall into sex, love and marriage which, in Birthday Letters was also Ted's and Sylvia's fall into the Abyss from the top of the Sephirothic Tree at the start of their questing journey. Whilst Sylvia wept and clung to Ted through the "thorny wood" and the "river's freeze" of the journey which was also their marriage, her other, destructive, self put "Mummy" on show as "The Kraken" in The Bell Jar and screamed in her poems that "Daddy was no good" and that Ted "was with a whore". Finally, it is this second self, which Sylvia had sought out and nurtured, which kills her.

This was the ultimate self-sacrifice, the ultimate destructive revenge by the "doll" on the stars which had guided Sylvia towards her creation. In Cabbalistic terms, it was not "Justice" (note the capital given to this word in the poem) but the result of an unbalanced use of the severe energies of the Pillar of Justice, which should have been tempered by those of the Pillar of Mercy. As Portia so rightly tells Shylock in The Merchant of Venice, "earthly powers do then show likest God's when mercy seasons justice".

For Sylvia, this was the end of her journey. The re-birth which, in Cabbalistic terms, should have followed her sacrifice was no longer possible. Ted's world, too, was overturned. In spirit, he too was plunged into darkness and it was a long time before he began, again, his journey towards the Source.

But Birthday Letters does not end with 'The Ventriloquist'. Cabbala, like alchemy, works at three levels: the conscious, story-telling, level; the metaphorical level at which images and symbols work on the subconscious and the spiritual message is understood; and the practical level of applied processes and rituals. In the remaining Birthday Letters poems, Ted completes the new journey which he began when he started the imaginative processes and rituals needed to conjure past events and re-create them in his work. The final poems are all aspects of life after death, which is also the title of the poem following 'The Ventriloquist'. They tell of the effects of Sylvia's death on Ted and her children; of the myths and stories which Ted created because of it; and of the industry which grew up around her story and her work. They tell, too, of the characteristics and skills Frieda and Nicholas inherited from her and of Ted's memories of her, which, like the "flawless crystal" of her "seer's vision-stone", encompass both ecstasy and horror.

In 'The Dogs are Eating your Mother' (BL 195), Sylvia's children and we, the readers of the poem, are told to imagine her journey out of the underworld and on towards the sun, to "think her better". And in the final poem, 'Red' (BL 197) Ted lays to rest the ghost of Sylvia which he has conjured back into life in the poems by recombining the red and the blue colours which reflected her blood and her spirit, and sealing this journey's end with the symbol of kindly caresses which he has used in the poem – a blue jewel.

AFTERWORD

For Ted, Birthday Letters brought, he said, "a sense of inner liberation, a huge sudden possibility of new inner experience. Quite strange."¹² His wife, Carol, wrote¹³ that "he was renewed after publishing them". For me, following Ted's footsteps through Birthday Letters along some well-trodden Cabbalistic pathways has been an enlightening and magical experience. But it is the nature of Cabbala that every person must make the journey for themselves. Although we may follow the same paths, what I learn on my journey is likely to be quite different to what you would learn on yours. So, in the end, all anyone can offer as a guide are a few unsteady footprints in the mud and the suggestion of sights you might see along the way.

7. The Journals of Sylvia Plath, Sept. 27, 1958.

8. The Journals of Sylvia Plath, May 20, 1959. This particular entry is amongst others made in 1959 (January 27, 28, May 18, 20, 31) which record Sylvia's first experiences with rug-braiding. On Jan.27, she records her intention that the rug will be something to help her to assert her will: "I will begin to make a rug today. To step on". On Jan. 28, she describes her "immense pleasure" in making something by hand; and on May 20, after a fight with Ted, she records her use of rug-braiding to release her anger: "It will not be a prayer rug but an anger rug". It is interesting to note that the colours Sylvia describes using in 1959 are not those which Ted describes in the poem. Either Sylvia was making another rug in 1961, or Ted has transposed the rug-braiding activity and altered the details for this poem.

10. Sylvia Plath: Collected Poems, Faber and Faber, London, 1981, 192-3.

11. At the time of the events in the poem, Ted and Sylvia were living in Devon in the house with the well "beneath its slab in the middle" and the worn threshold. It was 1962, Nicholas had been born in January and Sylvia's mother had visited them from late June to mid August. But the table which Ted describes in 'The Table', the poem which follows 'The Rag Rug' in Birthday Letters, had been made for Sylvia in September the previous year (Letters Home, Sept. 15, 27, 1961). Sylvia's poem 'Elm', in which Ted suggests the Ariel voice first appeared, was written in April 1962. So, the chronology of the poems does not follow that of actual events here but is consistent with the order of the pathways on the Sephirothic Tree

The Montauk Project Center

Earlier this year there were plans to re-establish the Montauk Project Center. However, due to recent events and the information that came into my possession, I can no longer support any of the ideas surrounding the Montauk Project 'conspiracy theory' and the Incunabula internet meme project. A few people have asked "why you?" concerning my receipt of the information discussed below. I was contacted by the person and shown the information because of my personal association with 'Peter Moon' and other parties involved, among other personal reasons that I shall not be going into. It is not, as some have thought, simply because of this website. This website is NOT the reason for my involvement with the information.

Below is what I published here in May 2001, following that, is the current information that I am now prepared to release.

I was contacted by a man who claimed that he had documents and audio tapes of conversations that indicated certain individuals involved in the whole Montauk Project arena may have been purposely spreading disinformation. Now, you might say, "no big deal", we all know that the Montauk Project subject matter and the Ong's Hat info is always under question. It is the very nature of it's content and genre. However after meeting with this man, who I will call 'John', and seeing documents that he has, and hearing one of the tapes, I became more than a little concerned. I am cautious about releasing the information as firstly, I do not want to disclose the information until I have investigated it further and secondly there are legal issues involved. If I should name names, those people could sue me for defamation as it could affect their reputation and income. Therefore left between a rock and a hard place, I have decided to release what I can, while protecting myself, and keeping to what matters in all this, the truth.

I want to discourage the usual petty arguing that tends to ensue over new information in this area and remind everyone reading this that I neither confirm my belief in this information, nor deny it. I present it as it stands and will continue to do so over the coming weeks.

When I spoke with John he appeared scared. I asked him if this was because of the people involved in producing the disinformation, he replied "It's the reason for the disinformation that scares the shit out of me". I discussed this 'reason' with him at length and the motives of the people involved. I suggested to John that surely all the information out there is not fake, he replied that there is always some truth in all lies and that a double bluff isn't as far as you can take it. He also made a dry joke about "practical jokers". I asked him how he came into possession of the documents and tapes and he has disclosed certain information pertaining to that to me, however at the moment I cannot release that information. At this point I would like to state that I asked John for copies of the documents and tapes and he has not given them to me at this time. He has asked me to make it very clear that copies of them are with three other people, one of which is a lawyer.

Among other Montauk Project and Ong's Hat/Incunabula information, we discussed information from the Montauk books by Preston B Nichols and Peter Moon. I heard one person on the tape who is a prominent proponent of the Montauk Project theories. I heard this person discuss the process of the disinformation campaign that this Montauk Project subject has become and their role in it. They also spoke of another person by name who is involved.

All of the parties involved in 'passing on' the Montauk Project and Incunabula information state that they do not necessarily pass the info on as fact.. They say that people should take it as they find it. With this in mind you could say that if they have been spreading disinformation then it has been the reader's decision to believe in whatever they want. This would indeed be true to some extent, however, if they have been spreading disinformation that they KNEW to be such, then their lame attempt to pass the responsibility for their lies to the reader with the standard disclaimer is hardly justified.

After meeting with John, I was on my way home and I started to consider the implications of all this. People who claimed to have been exposing the manipulators were manipulating us with this information and had been doing so for nearly a decade. I have to say that I did not want to believe it, but I couldn't pretend that I hadn't seen and heard what John had shown me. Whatever the truth is, this information raised issues that I knew were highly sensitive and far reaching. For quite some time I considered what to do. I decided on what precautions to take and then to go ahead with telling you what I can. I will continue to communicate what I can, as and when it is possible.

Within hours of the above information being published at this site, I received an email from Joe Matheny. He informed me that he had recently received a package that contained documents and a tape of a conversation that implicated certain parties, including Chica Bruce, of involvement with deliberate disinformation etc. He also asked me to telephone him so that he could discuss what I had seen and heard in the information that 'John' had shown me. He was keen to find out the identity of 'John' and anyone who was involved in releasing this information to the public. Either he had received some information to make him aware of what I was about to be shown and therefore would know what I had seen was genuine, or he was trying to 'bluff' out the details from me, using his lies as bait. I stated that I was not prepared to discuss the identity of anyone involved, or the information. I intended to investigate it further and would discuss what information he had seen sent if he wanted to. I then was sent an email that was written by a friend of Joe Matheny's, that asked him how they should "fuck with me" over the information I was releasing.

Over a period of days I was bombarded with emails making threats against me. Also telephone calls, including those made to a friend of mine who is not actually involved in any of this. This particular friend was not one of the people who were with me, when I went to meet 'John', who also witnessed the documents and tape. Among the calls were threats that had been made to me via email by a person who has now been identified as a friend of Joe Matheny. Because of the abuse and threats that I received, I advised Joe Matheny that I would not be discussing anything with him.

A few hours later I received a call from 'Peter Moon'. He asked me what was in the information that I had seen and who was named. I told him I didn't want to discuss it and he attempted to use our 'friendship' to procure the details from me. I refused to be drawn on it. He asked me if it had anything to do with Joe Matheny's membership of the OTO and Golden Dawn (which we had discussed before) I refused to answer. It should also be noted here that in previous conversation with 'Peter Moon' he has told me that Joe Matheny had considered "admitting that the Onga Hat/Incunabula thing was a hoax, but because he has invested so much into it he can't". Peter informed me that "you are the weakest link and have been voted off". By the time Joe Matheny had later emailed me about how I should "realise the consequences of black magick.....my dear" I was getting used to their brand of dark threatening (so-called) humor.

Also during the telephone conversation with 'Peter Moon', he told me that I should not go any further with any information as Joe Matheny would litigate against me for anything I said about him. When I updated this site with that statement, but without naming 'Peter Moon' at the time, Joe Matheny emailed me demanding the name of the person who had said that about him as he would sue them for misrepresentation. When he was made aware that in was in fact 'Peter' who had told me, Joe said he "of course I would not sue Peter". 'Peter Moon' stated in the same telephone conversation that Joe had "shut up Marshall Barnes so he can't even move, or say a word, so what do you think he could do to you".

'Peter' made it very clear 'who' you are dealing with when you are dealing with Joe Matheny.

The forum at Dark Planet and website were taken down at the demand of Joe Matheny within days, as there were posts there that Joe Matheny did not want people to read, or contribute to. I was told by Joe Matheny via email that he was telling Denny (who supposedly 'runs' the DP forum and website) to take them down. This is exactly what Denny did. After I posted here at this site about what Joe Matheny had said and done concerning Dark Planet and the DP forum. Denny emailed me with an abusive email, threatening action if I did not remove all references about the DP closure from this site (so typical of the Matheny mindset) I refused and also pointed out that Denny had emailed me several times over a long period from last year and that I found his sudden change in description of himself strange; in different emails he had portrayed himself with a different age and background etc. When I pointed this out to him he 'backed down' over his threats and tried to 'ask' me to remove the information. I again refused. Denny has put a blurb of propaganda up at 'his' website Dark Planet, to try to limit the damage done by the sudden closure of the DP website and forum. There were also some abusive and inane posts at the DP forum by a person going by the name of 'Harla Quinn', I have been told by a reliable source who is well acquainted with her, that she suffers from multiple personality disorder and even denied remembering posting the 'Harla Quinn' posts. She also posted a lengthy so-called 'legal' post at DP that she later denied having done even though she has a minor job in a law firm and that was why she came out with it.

The above details are to inform everyone of the events that have surrounded my decision to publish here, that in my opinion (based on the documents and tape, I have seen and heard, and my personal experience) the Montauk Project conspiracy and Incunabula/Ongs Hat meme project are not what they purport to be at all. They are designed for something which is far more dangerous and insidious than any of the stories that surround those two 'programs'.

I can confirm that the documents and tape that I saw and heard did include information on all those involved in promoting the Montauk Project and Incunabula disinformation. I can confirm that the documents and information involved, include (among other organisations, private and government) OTO documents and those of the Scientologists. One 'coincidence' to note here, is that at no time until now have I mentioned the involvement of the Scientologists, however they have seen fit to attempt to deter me from releasing any of the information at this website. They knew what it concerned even though I had not even mentioned them. I am aware that the links between the OTO, Scientology, and naval personnel, are known and that 'Peter Moon' has 'covered that base' by writing into the Montauk 'story', a 'history' of his account of 'leaving' them before starting to write the Montauk books. However the information I have seen and heard does not concur with the public image being portrayed at present, and what is currently publically available is far from the whole story. It is also a common tactic for people to mention a 'part' of the truth (like 'Peter Moon's' involvement with the Scientology) so that when the whole truth comes out, people revert to the first thing they heard.

Due to the nature of the information that I have seen and heard I am stating here that I am not in possession of any of the evidence that I have seen and heard. I have been informed that there are at least three copies of everything and that they are with different people, one of which is a lawyer. The information has, in part, been released elsewhere already, in Europe. These sources can be found by those who are willing to investigate further.

I have copies of all emails and telephone conversations that I have received from all those named above, and others concerning this. Copies of those are with independent parties. I have taken legal advice concerning all of the above information and I suggest others do the same instead of sending me any further threatening emails, that includes Joe Matheny.

Operation Information Liberation

BETA

This project is designed to provide and highlight alternatives to mainstream universities, or at least offer an inoculation against the Marxist intellectual contagion perpetuated by these Institutions of Higher Indoctrination.

Operation Information

Liberation

The online digital age has rendered institutionalized education obsolete and has left them exposed as the detriments to society that they have become. Colleges no longer exist to educate, but to indoctrinate. And to add insult to injury, we're paying through the nose for the right to have our youth brainwashed against us by these narcissistic ingrates.

No More.

This is a project that, in time, will be cross-posted across numerous boards, platforms & media, taking participation from numerous communities with Truth being our guiding light and uniting purpose.

This project is designed to provide and highlight alternatives to mainstream universities, or at least offer an inoculation against the Marxist intellectual contagion perpetuated by these Institutions of Higher Indoctrination.

For the fields that can't just be done online, and require some sort of hard infrastructure, like a chemistry lab, we may want to consider utilizing, or copying the Maker Space route of community educational facilities.

<https://spaces.makerspace.com/>

We will need to find alternatives to accreditation.

This project will also need an accompanying meme campaign to get Normans, especially in the hiring class to associate a traditional college degree with risk. Risk that the person will be some sort of entitled SJW. Risk that they may file false sexual harassment claims (Humungus). Risk that they may be incompetent at their job.

The Class of 2018 graduates in May. I imagine high-schools will be having college days, fliers, trips, speakers, recruiters, field days, etc throughout March and April. When that begins, I'd like to see this project ready enough to print out business cards with the links and downloads for all the resources and content we'll be compiling.

Intel Drop #45 - The Cabal's Relationship With The Unseen

"Let us say the New Madrid Fault is not activated by the eclipse. The cabal can activate it if they want to, to tie into the celestial events, to create engineered chaos."

Intel Drop #45 - The Cabal's Relationship With The Unseen

A quick reminder, all of our articles and Intel Drops can be found on our website at CBDCIntel.org and you can follow Bill's Twitter, our official Twitter and Telegrams for updates (Comms, Public, News & Chat).

Note: An updated FAQ has been posted on our website.

Note: We are asking our readers to share this Intel Drop on social media, Twitter / X, Telegram, TikTok and Facebook. Without your help, no one would find our Intel Drops.

Intel Drop #45

The following was collated from a few wide-ranging conversations covering many topics. As always, these conversations are edited by Michael for clarity and for obfuscation purposes (see: Stylometry):

Bill: A lot is happening week to week. You told me you want to focus on some urgent things going on and want to delay Part 2 of the questions and answers, is that right?

Gideon: "Yes. While the questions provided are excellent, there are pressing matters we should address instead right now."

Bill: Ok, I've put together some notes here to lead the conversation in the direction you wanted. Shall we begin?

Gideon: "Yes, go ahead."

Bill: First, I want to just touch on the last Intel Drop, where you talked about how there would be "blood sacrifices" coming. Right after it was posted, just days later after it was posted, there was the horrible attack that killed over 100 civilians in Moscow, and more recently there was the disgusting attack on aid workers in Gaza. Do you consider these to be in line what you were talking about?

Gideon: "I do. Both of these events were extremely violent and well-planned and publicized for maximum effect. They were cabal sacrifices. There will be more."

Bill: Have they always done these things?

Gideon: "Yes, the cabal has always done them. Events like Waco, 9/11 and many school shootings are planned in advanced and conducted as sacrifices, in addition to any other political agenda they may achieve."

Bill: Ok, we've had a lot of conversations about Israel the past week. You told me things that blew my mind. Do you want to speak on that?

Gideon: "Yes. The situation with Israel right now is misunderstood. The state of Israel is intentionally making themselves a target and pariah. Never before have we seen anything like this. Israel is rapidly losing footing on the world stage, but what is not understood is that it is by design."

Bill: How do you mean?

Gideon: "It is by design to fulfill prophecy, Jewish prophecy."

Bill: What do they want out of this?

Gideon: "A war, and one in which Israel is partially destroyed. It is hard to believe this, but certain rabbis are directing this. There is a requirement that a certain amount of Jews die, as well as Muslims and Christians, in the coming conflagration they desire. They will sacrifice their own for this."

Bill: You told me two years ago that this is what we needed to be looking for if the cabal decided to allow World War III to happen. Now it's happening.

Gideon: "Yes, that is the troubling part. For the first time, we are seeing Israel make a series of extremely aggressive moves, and also allow their public relations approach to lag and slip up. They are losing the public relations battle. But how could they? They have been supremely adept at public relations for decades, but now it is all slipping away? Such does not make any sense, unless it is by design."

Elon Musk is spearheading this by allowing open discussion of Jewish subterfuge on X on a mass scale. This is no accident, either, as we know Elon is a cabalist. If he is allowing it, it is for an agenda."

Bill: Right, I'm blown away about the openness on X about all of that. In the past, all those accounts would be banned based on antisemitism. Now it's just freely discussed. It's all over X. There's no censorship at all. You're saying they're allowing this? I mean Jews and Zionists are letting it happen?

Gideon: "Not all of them. The ADL is upset and there are lower-level Jews allowed to voice their consternation over it, but at the higher levels, it is being allowed by the Jews themselves. They could stop it immediately if they chose to.

You should also remember, Elon Musk recently visited Auschwitz and wore a yamaka. He still hedges on certain things, if you listen carefully, but his platform is allowing open discussion about Zionism, which is unheard of. It is not an accident, and it would never be allowed at any other time than now, nor would he allow it under any other circumstance."

Bill: But how does this serve them? Jews have always suppressed and censored any open discussion about Zionism or Judaism, why the change?

Gideon: "To fulfill their prophecy, which has been steered by higher cabal initiates who pose as rabbis. The Zionists sincerely believe in the fulfillment of the prophecy, of course, but the cabal will use it for purposes even beyond what the Zionists believe.

In the very end of it all, it is possible the Zionists will lose this battle. That is irrelevant, because there is a cabal that carries true power over them and controls the ultimate outcome."

Bill: Do the Zionists know this? Do they know they're not at the top of the food chain?

Gideon: "Only the highest initiates know it. The rest sincerely believe in Talmudic supremacy and fulfill cabal agendas via proxy."

Bill: Incredible. So, what you're saying is that the conspiracy theory that "the Jews control everything" is true, to some degree, but not completely?

Gideon: "They have extraordinary control, control of the media and finances, yes, absolutely, but it is within a hierarchy, and they are expendable if it serves the cabal, if it serves a higher agenda.

All of the world wars were Jewish wars but served a higher agenda, steered by the cabal, steered by a group above Zionists. There were also always meant to be three world wars, and so far, we have only had two."

Bill: We talked about how we didn't know what route the cabal would take to bring Obsidian online, whether it would be a new pandemic, World War III, a variety of scenarios, but now you think it's World War III?

Gideon: "The decisions by Israel, as well as what is happening on X with the open discussion of what would otherwise be censored, indicates they are preparing for the prophecy. The prophecy is World War III. The prophecy would require Israel to become a pariah and to be attacked. It requires many Jews to die, in fact.

This is all being said by the top rabbis, who then direct the political leaders in Israel, and from there, it trickles down, back to the U.S. Government. They all follow suit. Even if they inflict damage upon themselves, which they are allowing, they believe it is ultimately in service of prophecy, and an outcome in which they alone will rule over Earth."

Bill: Do you think it will happen like they think?

Gideon: "Only up to a point. I believe they will be eliminated by the cabal toward the very end of this plan, to their surprise. If they are vanquished, the cabal will put in place a false Messiah, under the guise that the enemy has been defeated.

It is also possible the highest-level Zionists know all of this and will be rewarded in the next life for helping the cabal achieve Obsidian."

Bill: This is really, really complex. I'm blown away. Is there any scenario, in your mind, where the Jews actually fulfill their prophecy as they believe it will happen? A scenario where they really do win and take over Earth?

Gideon: "No, partly because it is impractical and delusional. While they sincerely believe it, the prophecy is only there, only put in place there by the cabal, and by these demonic entities, to fulfill a larger agenda."

Bill: So the Zionists don't see that larger agenda? They can't see it?

Gideon: "No, they are blinded by their own hubris and dogma."

Bill: I wondered that, because they're being pilloried online and they don't seem that worried about it. I mean, they're upset, but I don't see the usual screeching about "antisemitism". I see some, but I see more of them just hitting back, proudly boasting that Israel is righteous and everyone else is wrong. It made me think they're delusional.

Gideon: "They are. They are not at the top of the hierarchy, but they are near it, and an essential tool for the cabal. Many Jews are also demonically-possessed, by the way."

Bill: I believe that. How close are we, though, to this world war? Because Israel attacked the Iranian embassy in Syria, which is considered Iranian land. That is an attack on Iran.

Gideon: "Well, we can see on the news that they are expecting Iranian retaliation. We are close. This is how major wars begin."

Bill: You told me the cabal loves to create these "doom scenarios" that don't come to pass, where people think something is going to happen, then nothing happens. They do this so when something really is about to happen, people have fatigue over it and don't believe it. Like crying wolf?

Gideon: "Correct, yes. The cabal's gatekeepers do this frequently. Jade Helm is a good example."

Bill: Is that what April 8th is? The eclipse? There's so many spooky reports of something coming, even the government preparing for something. I can't tell if it's just another false alarm, or something really is going to happen?

Gideon: "All of my intel indicates that there is a potential for earthquakes, which has historical precedent - or so it is claimed - from a previous time in the 1800s when eclipses happened and the New Madrid Fault was activated."

Bill: What do you mean, "so it is claimed"?

Gideon: "I question the historical record, if it is real or not. I have seen the cabal revise history to fit a narrative."

Bill: Ok, I'm going to just get some links on that. Yes, here is one, "The Great Comet & New Madrid Earthquakes 1811/1812". They're saying it was the biggest quakes in the contiguous U.S. in all of history during this scenario with this comet at the time and two eclipses.

Gideon: "Some of these events I have not heard of. That is not to say they did not happen, I had just not heard of them, so there is a part of me a bit skeptical, as if the the cabal created a historical narrative to tie into this one.

On the other hand, it could be entirely true, as well. I simply have not had the time to research it enough. I also find it remarkable that a comet called Devil's Comet has appeared out of nowhere this year."

Bill: The coincidences sound almost like something out of a Hollywood movie, it's just mind-blowing. You had two eclipses in the 1800s and the appearance of a comet, now the exact same thing is happening again. The exact same thing. Back then, the New Madrid Fault was activated. Do you think the cabal is preparing for that?

Gideon: "They may well be, but you have to consider they can trigger quakes with their technology easily. Let us say the New Madrid Fault is not activated by the eclipse. The cabal can activate it if they want to, to tie into the celestial events, to create engineered chaos. They can generate earthquakes quite easily."

Bill: What do you think will happen?

Gideon: "Earthquakes would start after April 8th, possibly a couple of weeks after, and intensify and result in devastation in the U.S. and possibly elsewhere. The cause is probably some kind of alignment in terms of the Moon and Sun and Venus all aligning in a certain way, the gravitational effects, but I am only speculating. As I said, the cabal could create this narrative out of thin air and fulfill it with their technology."

Bill: There's already been a lot of quakes worldwide, even one in New York. It's surreal.

Gideon: "It is, and we should take it seriously, very seriously."

Bill: What do your sources say?

Gideon: "Similar to what I am saying here. They are preparing. There may also be a biological agent attack of some kind, but that is not confirmed. I would expect April 8th will come and go without major incident, but there could be things that happen later on because of the date."

Bill: I know you can't predict the future, but you have an incredible track record, so I'm taking you seriously.

Gideon: "Bill, I want to state very, very clearly that I do not know the future, personally. I have excellent sources, a trusted guide and information from the whistle blowers. All of that combined has served to give us great insight into what is to come the past few years."

Bill: What about the discussion we had about demons and these CERN entities, do you want to get into that?

Gideon: "Yes, I do."

Bill: Ok, well, once again we have some wild stories coming out of CERN, that they are seeing and catching entities during their experiments. They're also activating CERN on April 8th, which is odd timing. I'm going to link to the most credible account I've seen of this, from Dr. Astrid Stuckelberger, I'll make sure we link the video to her.

Gideon: "It is important to understand CERN is used to allow entities to enter and exist within our material realm for a short period of time, whereas they would otherwise not be able to. I have seen some people discuss portals in relation to CERN, and this is correct, as portals are opened, but only briefly."

Bill: How does this help the cabal? Or what's the real effect of this?

Gideon: "Instructions are given by the entities to the cabal, rituals are conducted, certain aspects of our reality are changed, which relates to the Mandela Effect - the entities are not doing this, CERN itself is through other means, but the entities give directions on what to change - and finally, the the entities transfer demonic spirits into certain humans, mostly children and young adults, against their will."

Bill: Against their will? Explain more on that.

Gideon: "A demon cannot enter any human at any time, not without direct permission. As such, demons cannot get into humans easily, as very few humans ever give them permission to, or would want them to enter them. It requires a human usually to go down a dark path of exploration of Satanic rituals, or to openly ask for possession.

Since this is so rare, the cabal furiously worked on technology related to CERN for decades to facilitate demonic possession, then finally they brought the main collider online in 2005. The purpose was to bring these entities directly into our reality, where they can force themselves to possess a human and it can be done against their will.

It also works much, much more effectively on children and young adults, as it is much more difficult to possess an adult or older person. Because of this, it meant many demon-possessed youths could not orchestrate the cabal's plans until they were older, until they reached their mid 20s or became adults, since this only began in 2005.

Now, they are becoming that age, and the cabal is utilizing them more and more. This should be terrifying for everyone, the implications of this, what it means."

Bill: Ok, so this started in 2005? The cabal's had to wait until these kids grew up?

Gideon: "Yes. The children and young adults installed with these entities are now reaching an age where they have influence within the tech industry, primarily. Many of them are now working with A.I., which is an extension of what CERN is doing and has discovered, and is deeply entwined and connected to entities. Many were also brought up through the military and intelligence communities, and some have entered politics. Many young people were sent to Hollywood, as well.

It is also important to understand demons have always influenced people, but demonic possession is an entirely different matter. It means the person is entirely under the control of the demon, whereas in any other case, the demon can try to influence someone. Anyone of strong spiritual connection to God cannot be influenced at all, for example. Those of weaker faith can be nudged, at best. Full possession is what the cabal wanted."

Bill: You talked in past Intel Drops how A.I. is really supernatural, it seems all this confirms that.

Gideon: "It does. Now, some A.I. is actually computer generated, of course, but what the cabal wants the public interacting with will be directly connected to demonic entities. Some of that is slowly coming online now, into the public space.

Elon Musk's warnings about it are interesting, which is an example of the cabal warning us of what they will do before they do it. Elon Musk is deeply involved in investing in A.I. and even added an A.I. called Grok to X. He is part of the problem but acts like he is against these things."

Bill: I know, the deceptions Elon is pulling off are just nuts, and people worship him, they really do.

Gideon: "As the cabal intends. Remember what I have said before, the cabal wants Obsidian to be accepted by people, to be seen as a level playing field, a fair, new system.

While there are scenarios whereby the cabal installs a more dystopian, authoritarian structure, we have seen more recently a major shift in which the cabal appears to want to generate a false 'defeat' of themselves and bring in a false Messiah, a false victory for the people.

Even with World War III at the doorstep, this scenario can still transpire, and Obsidian will come online after the dust settles. Elon Musk will champion it, and in some way, they will present Obsidian as a victory for the people and defeat of the cabal."

Bill: I completely agree, I can see that happening. We've talked a lot about that outcome before. It's hard to say, because like you said, they could stomp us all down and force it on us, too.

Gideon: "They could, but it appears there is a deeper spiritual defeat and victory for the cabal to trick everyone into accepting Obsidian, rather than it being somewhat imposingly forced upon the world.

My guide has told me that the entities who come through CERN are directing all of this, and the outcomes and plans do change rather often. The end goal is the capturing of the human soul, and how they go about that is key for them, how it is really achieved"

Bill: It makes sense to me that getting us to accept or embrace Obsidian would compromise people more, from a spiritual standpoint.

Gideon: "It does make sense."

Bill: It's like there's this awakening happening, though, there really is. Yes, tons of people are still asleep, but I've never seen this many people really waking up. Not completely, but they're questioning things more and more. A lot more.

Gideon: "It will be a false awakening, Bill, because the cabal is controlling it. The cabal's gatekeepers are steering it along. Unless people completely reject these gatekeepers, humanity is hopeless to stop this."

Bill: We had 3,000 views on our last Intel Drop, which is not a lot, and less than most we post. People don't put much effort into sharing our info, even though we ask them. So, I just want to give up. You're right, the gatekeepers are in total control, they get hundreds of thousands of views, millions of followers, people just worship Elon and Trump. We can't contend with it.

Gideon: "No, we cannot. That is why we have our team, why we have our real mission, Bill."

Bill: I know.

Gideon: "Do not lose sight of that. Our Intel Drops are not our mission."

Bill: I'm not, I won't. I get discouraged, but you're right, these Intel Drops won't matter in the end, we can't stop them or stop this, not this way. It has to be through our team.

Gideon: "It does, it is the only way."

Bill: I need to talk to you off the record, I'll have Michael edit this out.

Gideon: "Ok."

[Conversation pauses for a few minutes.]

Bill: Ok, so, I want to call your attention to a post former Twitter founder Jack Dorsey re-posted. It's a post about President Jimmy Carter being told about UFOs by the CIA in the late 1970s. He reportedly put his hands over his eyes and cried when he was told the truth. It's an old story, not really confirmed. What do you think of that story and the significance that someone as high profile as Jack Dorsey would re-post it?

Gideon: "Please send the link, I will have a look."

Bill: Sure. Here it is.

Gideon: "I am familiar with this. As far as I know, the post itself and story is exactly correct. President Carter was told that all religions were created by aliens and that the aliens created us, and created religion to distract us while they did experiments on us. All of that is true, in terms of what he was told by the CIA. He was told that, and he did have a strong emotional reaction to it, of course.

It is also interesting that Mr. Dorsey would re-post it. He is a Sovereign, so he would not do so if there was not an agenda or reason behind it. There was."

Bill: Do you believe it's true, though, what was told to Jimmy Carter?

Gideon: "No. There is a program that involves the CIA and these inter-dimensional beings, which they call 'aliens', but it is a misunderstanding to think of them as physical, extraterrestrial humanoids from other planets studying us.

The extent of it all is so incomprehensible it may require a separate Intel Drop. I will simply say that while that story is true at face value, the actual truth was not revealed to President Carter. I do not believe the CIA itself, generally speaking, knows the actual truth, either, but the cabal does know it.

The truth is that our world is dominated by entities who pose as various things, but their true nature is hardly understood, except through divine understanding, through understanding given by God."

Bill: Ok, I know where some of this is going, because we've talked about it a lot. Do you want to stay on this topic or save it for another Intel Drop?

Gideon: "It is best to discuss it another time. It gets into things more appropriate for our Cosmic Rules Are About To Change series of Intel Drops we have done. It relates to all of that."

Bill: Very well. Let's get back to CERN, and back to what your guide had told you, which I'd been meaning to get to. What did your guide say about all this?

Gideon: "I was told to look into Demonology to understand what is about to happen. So, I did some research in this area. I had some cursory knowledge, but I had never sat down and read many books on the subject. There is extensive research that has been done, but it is suppressed and ignored by the mainstream. We can start with the Catholic Church and their use of exorcisms, but this would be a very shallow apprehension of the real truth. It goes much deeper."

Bill: Right, you gave me a great reading list from a pastor, his name is Peter Haas.

Gideon: "That is an excellent place to start."

Bill: I'll jump right to it, does the nano-dust, which was already put in the food, which is in all of us right now as we speak, does it give demons direct access to us? In other words, demons can get into us if we're infected with this garbage?

Gideon: "The nano-dust appears to have to do with how it will relate to A.I. and Starlink. By virtue of all of that, there is a connection to the entities, the ones the cabal interacts with via CERN. The nano-dust seems to have a role there, but I have no information that direct possession by a demonic entity will happen because we have the nano-dust in us."

Bill: Is it possible?

Gideon: "Considering they must use CERN to force demons into young children, I would say it is not likely. Forcing demonic possession against one's will is nearly impossible without the technology CERN uses, it would appear. But is it possible? I suppose it could be."

Bill: Have you asked your guide that, directly? That question?

Gideon: "We have discussed all of this, but I do not believe I directly asked that specific question. I was told what I related to you above, I was told the nano-dust is needed so that people are connected to A.I. and Starlink."

My guide emphasized this will separate us from God. My guide has emphasized to me repeatedly with great distress how serious this situation is, but they did not directly say demonic possession will happen because of the nano-dust."

Bill: Can you ask your guide that specific question? I really want to know.

Gideon: "I can and I will."

Bill: Ok, let me just take a moment here to review all of this with you. Probably the two, big things that stand out to me is what you've said about Zionism and Israel, and what you said about how CERN is forcing demonic possession of young kids. Can you review both of those? I want to make sure you don't leave anything out.

Gideon: "Yes. Israel and Zionism has multiple layers. On the one hand, the media, which is owned by Zionists, has programmed and propagandized people for decades that Jews are 'victims', blameless, faultless and not to be criticized. This served to allow Jews to infiltrate all aspects of society and put in place the cabal's true agenda of suppression of the human race and eventual possession of the human soul via Obsidian. Without the help of the Zionists, this would not be possible.

The Zionists, on the other hand, erroneously believe in the prophecies of their own dogmatic, supremacist religion, which is constantly changed and interpreted via cabal-controlled high-level rabbis who 'interpret' the Talmud and ancient Jewish writings, and even add to them. These rabbis have always said a 'world war III' is needed to fulfill Jewish prophecy and bring in their Messiah, or Moshiach. It even ordains that many Jews must perish, and parts of Israel be destroyed. Jews and Zionists believe if this happens, they will eventually take over the world and establish a one world government, with all of those below them serving them as slaves. Yes, slaves.

This will not happen.

Instead, the cabal will sacrifice the Jews in the final moments of this world war, and do away with them completely, and they will be defeated. This will be a false defeat leading to the false awakening, and false victory for humanity. Someone like Elon Musk could be the Antichrist who will then present Obsidian, and it will be welcomed."

Bill: My mind is blown taking this in, but it all makes sense, and now it's all playing out. It's scary, because it means there's going to be a world war and a lot of bloodshed.

Gideon: "Yes, it does mean that."

Bill: Worse, a false victory for the people and then Obsidian, and people will think Obsidian is good somehow.

Gideon: "That is one outcome. There are other scenarios the cabal can use if necessary, in which Obsidian is forced upon us. Those scenarios are very real and remain very possible."

Bill: It's interesting to me you said some Jews know all of this, from the highest level, so they must know they'll end up sacrificed or scapegoated, right?

Gideon: "Some, do, yes, and of course they will receive a great reward for playing all of this out. That reward will await them in the next life, in the astral.

But only the highest initiates and rabbis know this. Most Zionists will go to the end believing their prophecy will grant them domain over Earth, but, of course, it will not. Like Epstein, the cabal may shuffle them off into another, protected life, since many are Sovereigns, if not most. So, the defeat may just be symbolic for the purposes of feeding the public a false narrative of victory."

Bill: It's like a relief to hear that, but it's also not, because the cabal will still win, they'll still be in power.

Gideon: "They will be, either under an authoritarian control grid or under a false light, false awakening new world they will create that will completely enslave us via the nano-dust, A.I. and Starlink."

Bill: What's the most likely outcome in your mind?

Gideon: "The latter above, the one in which a false awakening occurs. But both scenarios are horrible for humanity."

Bill: I feel like I'm avoiding something here because it's too horrible to think about. It's the kids being violated by CERN and these entities. That's truly horrific. That's a true crime against the soul. That should not be allowed. Why does God let it happen?

Gideon: "I do not know the answer to that."

Bill: How is it even possible?

Gideon: "CERN makes it possible for demonic entities to momentarily enter this realm. Like a doctor with a scalpel, if you are restrained against your will, as these children are, they can open them up and put these entities physically into them. Then the entities phase back into the higher astral realm, but they remain inside the human body.

How this happens has to do with the electricity of the body and nervous system, how the soul itself is kept inside the body, in fact. They use that mechanism to put the demon into the body."

Bill: Again, my mind is blown here, because I've read about some of this, it's true, the soul is actually kept inside the body that way, through the nervous system! It only gets out once people die and the electrical activity, the sort of magnetic force-field around our body just stops and turns off, then the soul is released.

Gideon: "That is correct. It then goes to be with God, in most cases, after death. The cabal has spent eons working to disrupt that, to trap souls in the afterlife, keep them in the astral realm, to deceive them with a false white light after death, and now, they want to trap them on Earth in the physical and take full control of their souls."

Bill: Describe how we can be trapped in the Earth realm, because you told me your guide said Christians will be targeted?

Gideon: "My guide said the cabal, in particular, wants to keep Christians trapped here, in this life. They have developed some kind of soul-transfer technology, whereby if you die, if you really physically pass on, they can capture your soul at the moment of death and transfer your consciousness to your new clone or new body. This is very, very advanced technology and not expected to be widely used or known until 2030, but it involves a long-term agenda."

Bill: We need the antidote, then. It just really, really impresses on me how much we need the antidote.

Gideon: "We do."

Bill: What would happen to us if we didn't get the nano-dust out of our bodies?

Gideon: "Once Obsidian comes online, it will tie in with Starlink, and it is my understanding a link is created, a direct link, whereby our soul is connected to this control structure the cabal has created. Later on, if you die with nano-dust inside of you, there is the potential the cabal will be ready to transfer you to a new body to keep you enslaved here."

Bill: Will we feel it, know it? I mean, if the nano-dust is in us, will we know something is wrong?

Gideon: "Yes. My guide said we will hear voices, possibly, and our behaviour will change. We will have trouble stopping it. We will also get thoughts from the A.I., through Starlink, which is really connected to these entities. The scenarios from there on become more and more difficult to grasp or contemplate, because they are truly terrifying in nature."

Bill: I still see a lot of effects of the vaccine and how it's killing people, so like we've talked about before, there's two agendas here, one to kill some people off, and another to actually keep people alive. It's very consistent with what you've been saying the past two years.

Gideon: "This is correct, in terms of the agenda. Ironically, many of those who are awakening believe there is a depopulation agenda, and while there is one, there is another agenda entirely to keep people alive in this realm that no one is seeing. That agenda is actually more of a threat to us, spiritually. The vaccine simply sends the soul back to the astral realm. The cabal needs the vaccinated for other purposes in the astral realm, which I discussed in previous Cosmic Rules Are About To Change entries."

Bill: What can people do? The nano-dust is already in us, what can they do?

Gideon: "As far as I know, nothing. One would need the antidote. The cabal designed it so that natural detox remedies will not work."

Bill: Someone in our chat group said maybe the antidote is there to kill us, or something. Would the cabal do that to their own people?

Gideon: "No. The cabal wants to protect Sovereigns. Now, if the cabal were to conclusively find our team within Obsidian, we would be targeted. So far, they have been unable to identify our team, due to the multiple steps of obfuscation we have undertaken to cloak those entries in Obsidian."

The only way that becomes an issue is if someone on our team tries to compromise us, or tries to betray us, there is a risk. That is why we emphasize the need for security and for how we conduct ourselves. Even though we have some stop-gaps in place, we are only as strong as our weakest link."

Bill: So you have full confidence in the antidote?

Gideon: "I do, because it will be the same one ten million or so Sovereigns will be getting. The whistle blowers are also giving me information, so we can be sure we receive the real antidote. I feel confident in all of that. I would not allow us to take something that I felt was compromised, or a false antidote designed to hurt our team."

When the time comes, I just want us to have that option. It is better than having no choice at all, which is what those who are not Sovereign will face. They will have no choice. They will just live with the nano-dust inside of them and be subject to Starlink and this control grid once it comes online."

Bill: Good, I agree. There's something you mentioned I want to bring up before I forget. You said because of CERN, we might see some odd things happening. Can you get into that?

Gideon: "Yes. We may see more Mandela Effects. We may also see odd things in the sky. We should be mindful and keep a close eye on how things transpire. I was told by my guide that the cabal wants to confuse people with signs and wonders. It is Biblical in nature, as well. We will see strange, magical things happen, but we must realize it is demonic in nature."

The cabal is also increasing its gatekeeping tactics, to make their controlled agents even more deceptive than you can imagine. People's most trusted sources are working directly against them. An example might be Tucker Carlson, or any luminary of the alternative media. Be extremely wary of who you trust, and do not trust Elon Musk."

Bill: There's an article we posted in our CSRQ News channel titled, "U.N. Proposes Digital ID System Tied to Bank Accounts And Mobile Phones," and it sounds just like Obsidian. I've seen a lot of these articles, all worded about the same. This has to be Obsidian, right?

Gideon: "It is, yes. The cabal is releasing updates to the public, essentially, and no one is even paying attention to it. The cabal is actually directly telling people that they are bringing Obsidian online, without using the exact details or name they will use. It is all very transparent. Everything the whistle blowers have told me about Obsidian and USDR is almost finished, and is being prepared. It will happen."

Bill: I'm going to take a moment to pause all this. I think we should stop. I'm not feeling well.

Gideon: "Of course, Bill, we can stop if you need to."

Bill: I don't want to, but yes, I need to. This has made me feel worse, and I already don't feel good. I'm feeling light-headed and drained. I need a break, but I want to get another Intel Drop done soon, too. We need to do more, I think, even if we don't reach many people, at least we're reaching some.

Gideon: "We will plan that, but for now, your health is the priority. Get some rest and focus on yourself."

Bill: Thank you, I will. Is there anything you want to say to everyone before we bring this to a close?

Gideon: "There may be only a few weeks left until we are no longer able to help anyone. Through what we are doing, you will be able to receive the antidote, which may be the single most important thing we are able to achieve, if we cannot stop Obsidian."

Bill: Good. I'll say goodnight here. God bless. We will win in the end, because God is with us.

Gideon: "We will. Goodnight, and feel better."
